RUSIE DESIRES VINDICATION.

The Big Pitcher Insists That His Fines Be Publicly Remitted.

Ready to Fight His Case Against the New York Club in Court

Gossips See the Hand of President Brush in the Controversy,

AMOS AND THE MAGNATE FRIENDS.

The Twirler's Lawyer Is Also Closely Connected with the Cincinnati Boss, Who Professes Ignorance of a Deal.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 20.-The opening of the ball season with Amos Rusle still idle and apparently without any prospect of his difficulties with New York being satisfactorily settled has caused great interest to centre in his case, and little else is talked of in ball circles here, where he is so well known. That he would be eagerly sought after if he could secure his release from New York and would find immediate and profitable employment is admitted by his friends, and while they have taken a great interest in his case heretofore, that interest has been greatly heightened by the opening of the season with Amos still in doubt as to his future, and they have begun to look upon him as a victim of circumstances and share with him the feel-

Hawkins & Smith, a law firm of this city, have been employed by Rusie and have submitted his side of the case to President Young. In behalf of their client they claim that he is entitled to his release under that provision of the rules which says that any player shall have his release on demand when the club with which he plays is in arrears for salary more than afteen days after the close of the season, and that withholding the salary under the gulse of a fine is unauthorized by the constitution of the League, it is also claimed that the fines were illegal because excessive, and that if Rusie were guilty of an infraction of the rules at Baitimore he could not have been less an accepted. Have a salary fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution of the rules gally fined more than $25$, the constitution gally fined more than $25, the constitu-tion making this the limit for the first offence.

In regard to the second fine, the attorneys hold that for inferior playing suspension is the only punishment, and that fines for such an offence are wholly unauthorized. These are practically the grounds of Rusie's case, and of the points under the constitution on which the formal demand for his release has been made.

RUSIE WANTED ELSEWHERS,

The gossip in ball circles is varied and July interesting, and there are many reports interesting, and there are many reports in circulation among Rusie's friends as to his future when released. They do not admit that he has received any proposition outside of the New York club, but they say that he knows what he will do if released and that he is resting easy with a certainty of getting pay for the full season's work.

if he would come to New York and take his old place in the club the fines would be made up to him, but the maintenance of discipline required that the club should not concede his demands and repay the fines. This proposition was rejected by Rusie on the ground that the fines were unjust, that it was a vindication as much as money that he wanted, and he felt that nothing short of his release or the acknowledgment of the club's injustice toward him would atone for its action.

Mr. Hawkins, of the firm of Hawkins & Smith, said that he had heard nothing of the case since the papers were sent to President Young. It is supposed, though, that New York has been nothed to submit its side of the case.

Gossips are noting coincidences that appear to point strongly to the hand of President John T. Brush, of the Cincinnaticub, in the controversy. It is well known that Hawkins and Mr. Brush are close personal friends, and it is regarded as a peculiar coincidence that Rusle finds his way to an attorney who is the friend of Brush, when Rusie and Brush are themselves such close friends.

Of course, Rusle would be in demand on the instant that he is released by New York, and it is said that he can have a place with the Gancinnatis at any moment that he is free to sign. So far as can be learned here, these rumors are based entirely upon the friendship between the attorney and Brush on the one hand, and the friendship between Rusle and Brush on the other. Whether Rusle has ever consulted Brush or whether he has any adviser outside of his father is not known, for none of his associates profess to know more than he tells them.

"Is there any probability that Rusle will sign with Cincinnati if released by New York?" was asked of Mr. Brush.

"I don't know a thing about it. I never heard a word on that subject before."

"Are there any propositions to Rusle from other clubs or negotiations in progress?"

"I don't know what negotiations are predding with other clubs. I know nothing about it."

Rusle is not engaged in any business, but for the past few weeks has been taking a good deal of exercise with a view to reducing his avordupols.

QUINN TALKS OF A BIG SCHEME. Says a Building Will Be Erected on Broadway Where Fights Can Be Held.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20 .- John J. Quinn, one of the backers of Peter Maher, was pleased to-day when told that Mitchell would be in Slavin's corner in the fight bewould be in Slavin's corner in the fight between Maher and Slavin. He said that if Maher defeated Slavin. He would fight Mitchell two days after the event.

Quinn is highly elated over the passage of the Horton bill by the New York Legislature. He says that it will boom instead of suppressing selentific glove contests. Now that the Governor has signed it he was not averse to letting it be known that one of the greatest buildings that had ever been erected in the world for boxing purposes would go up on Broadway, New York.

Tom O'Rourke and a number of other pugilistic capitalists are behind the scheme, and the new law is all in their favor. In this buildings the greatest lights in pugilism will gueet, and those who follow the sport will not be forced to cross ferries and ride long distances to see the stars of the ring put up their clever work in the future.

BOSTON WON AT HOME. Over Eighteen Thousand Cranks Saw Them Defeat the Champion

Boston, April 20,-In the presence of no less than 18,033 people the Boston nine of 1896 made its home debut and won a ridiculously easy victory over the champion Baltimoreans. The game was devoid of fielding features and was a poor contest throughout. Following is the score:

Yachting. The yachting season promises to be a lively one in this section, and a score or more of steam and sail craft, which have been wintered here, are being put in readiness for cruising.

G. L. Hubbard's steamer Kaloish, N. Y. Y. C., will probably be the first to go into commission. She has been fitting for a few weeks, and will probably hoist her owner's pennant on the first day of May, Mr. Hubbard's private flag has herefore been distinguished by the letter "K." It will hereafter be "H.

G. H. Osgood's steamer Narwahl, N. Y. Y.

bird's private dag has heretofore been distinguished by the letter "K." It will hereafter be "H."

C. H. Osgood's steamer Narwahl, N. Y. Y. C., has been hauled from her Winter quarters to Drummond's, where her boilers and engine are being overhauled preparatory to beginning the season. It will be nearly the itself of June before she goes into commission.

Captain Earl has had the crew of F. L. Osgood's steamer Fedalma at work on that boat for a fortnight. She has been taken to Norwich, where she will fit out and begin her senson carly.

Schooner yacht Shamrock, Mr. Willard Ward, N. Y. Y. C., is being overhauled in Shaw's Cove under the direction of Captain Allen, her selling master in years past. She will go into commission about May 20.

Steamer Narada, N. Y. Y. C., formerly A. J. Drexel's Marguerita, is in the harbor overhauling. Captain Dudley Brand, who was her sailing master last season when the Marruerita was on her European voyage, will —namand her again this year. She will go into commission at Norfolk May 25.

Sloop Huron, Larchmont Y. C., Mr. E. S. Hatch, is being made ready for commission at Noank. Captain Beebe, her sailing master, is aboard to overlook the work.

It is apmounced here that F. C. Fowler has sold his cutter Zaleika, N. Y. Y. C., to Mr. Winthrop Thayer, of Boston.

The steamer Huntress, Professor Fewler's new yacht, will go into commission Monday next.

Lewis Cass Ledyard's schooner Montauk.

new yacht, will go into commission Monday next.

Lewis Cass Ledyard's schooner Montauk has a gang of men at work on her, and Captain Thompson expects her to go into commission about mid-May.

Mr. James Pendleton, of Stonington, has purchased the sloop Marguerite, for many years one of the crack boats of the New Haven Club, and will hereafter hall from Stonington and will go into commission early in the season, C. J. Kimberly, of New Haven, has the Marguerite built at Branford, but for ten years she has been owned by C. M. Pock, of New Haven.

Colonel A. C. Tyler's in keel Drusilia, N. H. Y. C., will be early in commission, and will be entered in races for her class as they occur.

H. Y. C., will be early in commission, and will be entered in races for her class as they occur.

Bailey is making salls for Dr. Seneca Powell's big cabin cat, the Loafer, one of the oldest boats of her class hereabouts. Dr. Powell will reside at Fort Griswold again during the Summer.

Schooner Lotus, N. Y. Y. C., Mr. John H. Cole, is at Morgan's yard, where she is undergoing extensive alterations. She was hauled out last Fail and has since then been on "akids."

William A. Slater will not have his steam yacht Eleanor in commission this season. She is for charter, but if she is not leased she will lay in Cow Bay, L. L., opposite the residence of Captain Scott, who recently returned from a Mediterrancan cruise wis her. Captain W. E. Withey does not anticipate that David Dows, Jr.'s new steamer will be ready for commission until late in June. She is expected to be a splendid boat.

J. D. Barrett's steel schooner Ingomar, which is being built at Lawley's South Roston yard from designs of H. C. Wintingham, is almost finished. She is eighty-five feet over all, sixty-three feet load water line, eighteen feet six inclus beam and eight feet two inches draught. Her rig will be moderate and she will be used for cruising and not riceing, as reported. She is very roomy, having six feet two linches head foom under the deek beams and cleven feet on the cabin floor. Her deek trimmings and skylights are of mahogany and the tabin is of white maple.

The Cranks Insist on Rusie.

ANDREW MACK-Do the Glants need Rusle? They can't do without him. I think Mr. Freedman has a good team and one or two good pitchers, but that baby boy from Indianapolis must be brought on here within a short time if the Giants expect to make any kind of a showing. I have played ball for many years, and I know the value of a good pitcher in a game.

"KID" CARSEY, Philadelphia's pitcher—I am a great admirer of Amos Rusie. He is a wonderfully clever pitcher and I don't see how the New Yorks can well afford to part with him. Baseball is a very uncertain game, and a pitcher is liable to go to pieces at any stage. Rusie is a man who can be relied upon at all stages of the game, and unless he is signed very soon the New Yorks are likely to lose many games that Rusie, if he pitched could easily win. If we had to go against Rusie in two of our games here we might not feel so sure

FRANK RUSSELL-I Rusie were with the boys I would feel that the team would go through the season swimmingly: The Giants need Amos in their business, and the longer he is off the team the more the team will suffer in a great many JOHNNY TROY-Do they need Rusle? Why, he ought to have been in harness a month ago. He is the greatest pitcher in the business, and New York cannot do without him. He can win nine out of ten games in which he pitches if he secures anything like fair support, and if properly treated he would be willing to pitch in three games every week. J. M. Hill-In my many years of managerial service I have learned enough to appreciate the difficulties that confront Messrs. Freedman and Irwin. A baseball team is not a toy. Sentiment is largely responsible for the success of baseball, and in this very relation increased sentiment means not only a stronger team, but greater financial return as a consequence. New York has already been robbed of enough glory. Let us be first in something, and, by all means, let Amos Rusie be the experiment.

Dr. John H. Woodbury—That discretion is the better part of valor is an acknowledged fact. In the case of Amos Rusie, President Freedman would, in my opinion, evidence good judgment by bringing the big pitcher here and waiving the little matter of $200 which is in dispute. No doubt Rusie deserved the fine inflicted, but after last year's record and the present condition of the nine is considered there seems no other alternative but to acknowledge a defeat at the hands of Rusie and get him to even matters by helping to defeat the opponents of the New Yorks. 'Chuck' Connors-Ah! Freedman makes me tired. What t'el? Why, coltenly; give dat bloke a chance-for sure. De two centurles what's de grumble don't cut no freeze when de New Yorks is in de soup. What's two hunderd simolians ter givin' de town a winnin' team? Say!-Ef two hunderd is queerin' de Goints, me an' Chu Fong 'll raise dem ourselves right here in Chinatown, 'mongst de Chinks, see! An' dat's no kid. Lottie Gilson-I'm not a man, but I'm a baseball crank just the same, and a rabid and patriotic one. New York to me, in baseball as in everything else, first, last and all the time, and when, as the song says, "They're just about to fall," why, give us Rusie, and I'll sell score cards for a week if necessary, Mark Sullivan-I'm a Bostonian by birth, but a New Yorker for my health and a rooter for the Giants from the time the curtain rises. I had great hopes of the Giants' winning the pennant this year, until I learned positively that Ruste would not be a member of the team. As a rooter, and a loyal one at that, I would like to see the Giants make a great hit all through the season, but until Rusie is engaged I am fearful of the results which are to follow. Rusie is the star actor, and, though "Dad" Clarke may be the leading comedian, he alone cannot save the game in this city.

COLUMBIA'S CREW AFLOAT. The "Blue and White" Oarsmen Also Took

Possession of Their New Boathouse. The Columbia 'varsity went on the Hud-The Columbia 'varsity went on the Hudson for the first time yesterday and immediately moved into the new Gould boathouse. This is the first of the new buildings to be occupied by Columbia.

The boathouse is situated at the foot of West One Hundred and Fifteenth street, entrance to it being obtained by a steel bridge over the railroad tracks. On the ground floor are two rooms, one for the 'varsity and freshmen crews and the other for the general use of the students who care to row. Upstairs the 'varsity and freshmen crews will each have a separate room, and here also accommodations will be made for the students.

The architecture of the house is colonial in style, with a classic front, and when completed it will be a very handsome building. In front there is a balcony, spandous enough to enable a large number of people to witness any inter-class or other regatta that may be held.

Everything points to Columbia's being represented by a good crew this year. The outboard work generally is ragged, but the fine body work and powerful swingling stroke which characterized the work of last year's victorious eight are being faithfully reproduced.

As matters stand the crew will row in their present order in the last rear. son for the first time yesterday and imme
